

The Neat Ghost

By Susano (original post)

One room seems to be haunted by a friendly ghost. Or, at least, a neat one. Anyone staying there will find their clothing hung up and put away and the bed neatly made. Even if they leave for just a few minutes. One traveling salesman decided to take advantage of this and turned into a total slob – until he arrived to find everything of his in a pile in the middle of the bed... including his recent room service order.
