

Bilgahan's Double Teleport

This spell allows the caster to instantly change places with another creature. The creature must be within range of the spell to be teleported to the caster's location. The teleports occur suddenly and without warning, and can lead to missed weapon attacks or an enemy striking one of his compatriots. If a creature is teleported during spell-casting or some other delicate task, that action is foiled; the attack misses, the spell is disrupted, etc. In some cases (such as planning to begin a swing of a weapon that will end on an opponent's head after the teleport, for example), the GM may allow an exception to this rule, if a Teamwork roll is made.
