- White talks his way onto a zeppelin with Alec and takes off in that direction
- On the way to find the rest of the group, Alec and White see a herd of brontosauri being herded by a Tyrannosaurus being ridden by Kitty, Ravi, Finnegan and a gorilla (Carruthers)
- Nazis with flamethrowers on pterodactyls appear and start charging the zeppelin
- White takes the zeppelin in amongst the overhanging vines and gets some of them trapped. Unfortunately the zeppelin is set on fire, so White grabs the escape jet pack and carries Alec to safety. Onto the back of the lead brontosaurus

Quotes

The Bronto is a family dinosaur, compared to the sports Tyrannosaurus. Also it's the green solution being a hybrid.

Part 6: On a wing and a prayer

- The lieutenant of the gorillas starts to work on making a glider out of the wreckage of the crashed zeppelin
- Ravi suggests that the Nazi Pterodactyls could be used in some way to get back to Gorillatopia
- The group decides that somehow they could be used to pull the glider
- On the way Kitty discovers a extraordinarily well built naked man who hasn't spoken english for quite a while
- The naked man (called Victor) is likely a descendant of Professor Challenger and the beautiful native princess
- After White mentions Challenger, the man assumes we are also Gods, like him
- The man takes the group to meet the Queen
- The Queen, after getting rid of those in the village who may overhear, tells stories of how Challenger came and taught them to use metal and science
- The village priest makes accusations that the group are demons. White stares him down.
- The Queen thinks Victor should beat his father, and the Queen would like to go too, but the only competent leader is a slave of no standing, not able to lead the nobles.
- The plan is to take the slave "in to heaven" and have him descend to lead the people (on a parachute) with the blessings of the Gods (possibly some tech)
- The group and Victor make their way to the pterodactyl camp
- Victor leaps onto a pterodactyl and Ravi almost manages to do it neatly
- Four Nazis, also having the idea of using their semi-trained flying lizards to flee the plateau, and open fire with two machine guns.
- White shoots one, and Ravi leads the flock of lizards following his large leader type lizard to swoop at the remainder, carrying the other machine gun nazi into the air before dropping him.
- The flock is taken to where the Lieutenant and Finnegan have been converting the zeppelin into a glider. The Queen and her slave are waiting there as well.
- The various pterodactyls are harnessed to the glider and it takes off with everyone on board.
- Gaining height above the clouds, the pterodactyls are released and the group glides down
- As the village is passed, the slave parachutes down
- The group silently approaches Gorillatopia from which a huge plume of smoke and the sounds of gunfire. Some kind of civil war is in progress
- A small group of jet packing luftaffe approach the glider
- The Lieutenant opens fire on the luftaffe. Ravi throws chackrams. Kitty shoots them
- Victor leaps onto the leading luftaffe and holding a knife to his throat, rides him into the ground near where White crash lands the glider at the university
- Archie, the scientist gorilla comes out and informs the group as to what is happening in the city.
- The General had executed the Dean in a plan to convert the university into a military camp
- Every gorilla that dies lessens the sentients of all the other gorillas. Ravi sees that their leftover god essence (that was released when White destroyed all gods) is dissipating
- Grabbing jet packs, Kitty, White and the Lieutenant rocket off to rescue Khan
- The defenders are at the prison and the group lands on the roof
- Ravi makes his way to the Gorilla temple.
- One of the council of Aunts confronts White and Kitty, but they manage to convince her to talk to Carruthers - the Gorilla sent off previously from the nazi camp with evidence, whom the general had had locked up and forbidden everyone to speak to.

- The Aunt leads Carruthers to Gorrilla Khan, and evidence against the General is giving. Khan walks forth.
- Ravi talks about stuff to the folk at the temple
- Gorrilla Khan gives an impassioned speech. The General, being at the center of destruction had been reverted to a less evolved state, and charges Khan as his followers, seeing how primitive he is, desert him. Khan shoots him
- Ravi does something or other that means the children are intelligent
